Supporting Answers

If you can create an experiential environment for this award, it will be remembered for a long time by many of the children. Using a lamb hand puppet to tell about lambs, to talk to the children about lambs, to read the story etc will go far (available online). Dressing up in “shepherds robes” or by a “shepherd’s campfire” also help experiential learning take place.

1. There are several books about lambs in print and online. The Bible App for kids is a free online graphically illustrated book that can be read or listened to. (app store “Bible children youversion”) This is an EXCELLENT resource with well-done graphics and is very interactive. The Story of the Nativity - “The First Christmas Gift” includes lambs in the story. As of 2017, StoryJumper.com had this cute story about a Lion and a Lamb.
2. Some methods: Have a color poster/large picture of a sheep and lamb. Do a touching, listening, talking time where you ask the children to notice things about lambs. Ex. lambs are smaller than sheep. Lambs are fluffy white. Lambs are babies. Lambs drink their momma’s milk. Lambs don’t hatch from eggs. Jesus talks about lambs in the Bible (great opening for a Bible story about ‘The Good Shepherd’ - John 10:1-18 If you have the “little lamb puppet” (as suggested) use the little lamb to talk with the children about the information in this requirement.

Some things we can learn:

- a. Baby sheep are called lambs.
- b. Most lambs are born in Spring
- c. Lambs are most often born as twins. Even though some ewes have single lambs or triplets, twins are the most common.
- d. Lambs will drink their mother’s milk until they are around four months old. They begin nibbling on grass, grain and hay starting at two weeks of age. Lambs can be bottle fed if they are orphaned or their mother had several at one time and cannot feed them all.
- e. Lambs are born with long tails.
- f. The lamb is shorn (hair cut off - it doesn’t hurt the lamb!) for the first time when they are between seven and nine months of age. Lamb’s wool is of premium quality and may be in high demand for spinning into yarn. This yarn can then be used to make scarves, hats, sweaters and other garments.
